International cooperation and networks

I have joined and helped building international research networks in four areas:

Ethics of care: I regularly take part in ethics of care panels, for example at WPSA (Western Political Science Association, USA) or CPSA (Canadian Political Science Association), where Joan Tronto is a leading figure. I have ongoing collaboration with Sophie Bourgault and Fiona Robinson, editors of a special issue submitted to IJCC and Bourgault currently provides venues for my work to be translated into French. I have several publications with Daniel Engster, (Social Politics and a chapter in Social Politics and Handbook for Child and Family Policy, who is also a part of this network. Elisabeth Conradi, Duale Hochschule Baden Württemberg Stuttgart DE, edited the volume: Ethik der Achtsamkeit und Sorge. Schulsselbegriffe der Ethic of Care, where I have a chapter and Marion Barnes, editor of a special issue in the journal Ethics and Social Welfare where I participated is also member of this network. I am further asked to review books in the field of ethics of care for distinguished journals, as for example Signs (Stensöta Olofsdotter 2016b).

Public administration and street level bureaucracy: I regularly take part in conferences on public administration as for example EGPA (European Group for Public Administration), which has led to cooperation with Alan Lawton in his edited handbook. I have further contact with Martin Baekgaard & Lene Holm Pedersen with whom I am offering a panel at the NOPSA conference 2020 on the subject of “Administrative burdens”. I have also previous publication collaborations with Marie Østergaard Möller Denmark and regularly meet with Evelyn Brodtkin, Sanford Schramm, Debora Stone and others on conferences. Also to mention: Gabriela Lotta Brasil, and Anat Gofen and Nessim Cohen, Israel

Gender and corruption: Together with Lena Wängnerud we have helped to establish an international network on gender and corruption and in May 2016 we organized a conference, hosting scholars such as Leslie Schwindt-Bayer, Georgina Waylen, Elin Bjarnegård, Tiffany Barnes and others. The proceedings from the conference was published in a co-edited volume at Palgrave Macmillan in 2018.

Organization of or participation in national or international conferences

I have participated extensively in international conferences since my dissertation in order to ground and nurture my network. However, in the last couple of years I have come to appreciate smaller groups more than larger conferences and thus chosen to visit workshops increasingly. I also deliberately restrict my flying. Hence, apart from the list below of recurrent conference venues I have in the last years also participated in the following more unique events:

Gender, Institutions and Change: Feminist Institutionalism after 10 years conference, in Manchester April, 2017

Gender-Governance (GGL) Conference July 11th-14th in Göttingen, 2017

Supervision PhD students

Supervisor (main) for Amanda Nielsen, Department of Political Science, Linnaeus University who successfully defended her PhD February 2016. Amanda started her PhD Fall 2010.

Leadership

- 2019 Involved as expert advisor in the GENIE program at Chalmers (2019–2028). In charge of designing assessment of the program in the form of survey questions and longer interviews with key persons in key environments.
- 2018-2019 Expert assignment on gender equality, central level University of Göteborg, involving the design of a questionnaire distributed to 16 departments, authorship of one report for each department, and follow up discussions on results with the respective boards of departments. A final report and presentation follow in the end of 2019. The questionnaire was presented at a Conference on gender mainstreaming held at Linnaeus University in Växjö, in November 2018 and received great interest from other universities who are likely to use the same set-up (Växjö, Karlstad, Lund and Höskolan Väst as well as SLU).
- 2016 Expert assignment as consultant in gender equality development at the Physics Department at Chalmers, including in-depth interview with board of department (16 people) and leading a concluding workshop with the whole board discussing the written report and ways to proceed forward.
- 2016 Expert assignment, conducting a study on doctoral student-supervisor relationship at Chalmers, initiated by WISE (Women in Science). I planned and managed the project, including research design, collection of empirical data, analysis and conclusions, authorship of report as well as presentation of results at a special hearing including a panel discussion.

Leadership in committees

Since spring 2019, I am chair of one the research committees at SSIA (Social Science Insurance Administration) in charge of preparing decision on funding research (the formal decision is taken by the GD).

- 2019 Chair research funding committee (sociology and political science) at Social Science Insurance Administration (SSIA)

I have been vice chair and representative for the Social science department in the Committee for graduate and master education, faculty level at Linnaeus University.

- 2010 – 2012 Vice chair Committee for Graduate and Master Education, Faculty level, Linnaeus University.

Other professional or ideational assignments

Other professional assignments include membership in steering boards of SWEPSA and NOPSA, as well as membership in committees where I have not taken a leading role, such as Board of Department, Linnaeus University and membership in several specific boards (Forum for research on professions, Gender Equality Special Board at Växjö, Member of Gender Equality Board at Political Science Department in Göteborg, etc.).

As ideational assignment I am active in the sport of orienteering, an engagement which includes organization of meets with a couple of thousand participants. I have taken leading roles on these meets on several occasions, as head of secretary and head of competition. I am also Board member of the Tenant Committee where I live and shift from vice Chair to Chair in May 2019.

The list below summarizes both professional and ideational assignments:

- 2019 Head of Competition, District Orienteering Meeting (2000 participants), Fröl. OL.

- 2018– 2020 Vice Chair, Tenant committee (Chair from May, 2019).
- 2016 Head of Secretary, District Orienteering Meeting (2000 participants), Fröl. OL.
- 2010 – 2011 Member of Board of Department, Social Science, Linnaeus University.
- 2009 – 2011 Member of Board special gender equality committee, Social Science Department, Linnaeus University, funded by the Delegation for Gender Equality In Higher Education. [Delegationen för jämställdhet i högskolan].
- 2010 Member of Board “Forum for Research on Professions”, Linnaeus University
- 2005 – 2009 Member of Board Swedish Political Science Association SWEPSA, representative for Department of Political Science, University of Göteborg
- 2006 – 2008 Member Board Nordic Political Science Association NOPSA, representative from Sweden
- 1998 – 2005 Member of Gender Equality Committee, Department of Political Science, University of Göteborg
- 2003 Assigned to revise gender equality plan (w. Sverker Jagers) at Department of Political Science, University of Göteborg

Conference Planning

2013– ong. I am a board member of the group organizing a yearly conference between researchers and practitioners around the subject of social insurances (Swedish social insurance agency SSIA & Swedish Research Council for Health Working Life and Welfare). As member of this group, we are expected to: collectively decide on a theme and suitable speakers; at the actual conference each of us is moderating one panel and is subsequently responsible for making the manuscript fit for publication in the report series from the conference. I have been part of planning and organizing the following conferences:

- 2014 “På väg in. Ungdomars liv och förändring”
- 2015 ”Sjukförsäkringen 60 år, från social rättighet till aktivering”
- 2016 ”Arbetslivet och socialförsäkringen”
- 2017 ”Migration och socialförsäkring”
- 2018 ”Barn och föräldrar i socialförsäkringen”
- 2019 ”Funktionsnedsättning, arbetsliv och välfärd”

Information about research to the outer world

I have a previous career as a journalist and I am convinced that the communication of research results to the public is an important task, as the public is our outmost principal. I participate regularly in media, as an expert commentator.

During a period, I had my own media channels in the form of a blog and a twitter-account.
\(http://stone-sweet.blogspot.se/\)
<https://twitter.com/helenastensota?cn=ZmF2b3JpdGU%3D&refsrc=email>

Currently however, the tone and level of aggression in these media as well as the reluctance to listen in this type of media does not suit me. It requires too much effort and energy.

Interaction with society and government

I have assignments for ISF (The Swedish Social Insurance Inspectorate) as PI in the evaluation of occupational injury insurance in an interdisciplinary group at GU, including sociologists, insurance physicians, and lawyers (also mentioned above).

I have previously participated in two government assignments dealing with gender equality issues. One of the government assignments in gender equality was conducted within the framework of Jämi, who was mandated to work on gender mainstreaming in central administration in Sweden. My work involved designing and implementing two studies, one quantitative and one qualitative, the writing of two reports, and the presentation of the results. The quantitative research was presented repeatedly, in Almedalen, in a special hearing at the Social Ministry, and at conferences organized by Jämi, a two-year Government assignment to investigate gender equality in central authorities. I was hired as a gender expert and investigator for six months full-time. Two reports were published from this assignment (Stensöta Olofsdotter, Helena 2009c; 2010d mentioned in 5.2.)

The other government assignment in gender equality was part of the government program, “Delegation for Gender Equality In Higher Education,” where I received research funding together with Johanna Andersson to conduct a study of recruitment patterns at Chalmers. We made a total selection of recruitment cases over 2.5 years and assessed the bibliometric level of each applicant to search for gender differences. We found no gender differences in this regard. We also examined whether the gender of the evaluator mattered and concluded that female evaluators ranked female applicants higher. However, this could also be an effect of shared research interest. This report was also presented on several occasions (see below 8.2.1). Two reports were published from this assignment (Stensöta Olofsdotter, Helena 2010a; 2011, mentioned in 5.2.)

Last, I occasionally function as a moderator, for example, chairing a debate between party representatives running for the municipal government at the election in 2014.

2014 Charing a debate of invited representatives of parties running for the municipal government election 2014, Faculty of Commerce, University of Göteborg (2014-09-11)
